

keep your child

LEAD-SAFE

test your child | test your home

There is no healthy level of lead exposure, and the effects are not often visible. Lead hurts the brain, causing serious and sometimes lifelong health problems.

Your child is at-risk for lead exposure if he or she lives in or regularly visits a home built before 1978. The only way to know for sure if your child has been exposed to lead is through testing.

Ask your doctor about a lead test today.

Find out more about childhood lead-poisoning at allencountyhealth.com